In Memoriam: Michael W. Curran, 79

Chase Veteran Killed in Auto Accident

Longtime CAA member Michael (Mike) Curran, 79, died in an automobile crash in the Adirondacks on Tuesday, March 11, 2014, after suffering a heart attack at the wheel.

His wife, fellow CAA member Jeanne Warner, was hurt in the accident, sustaining several broken bones. As of Sunday morning, March 16, she was in fair condition in Fletcher Allen Health Care, a hospital in Burlington, VT.

They were residents of Manhattan, with a second home in Keene, NY, in the Adirondack region of New York near Lake Placid.

Mike began at Chase Manhattan Bank in 1957 and retired as a managing director of JP Morgan Chase in 2002. He had assignments in the United States, France, Germany and the United Kingdom, working in EMEA Finance/Capital Markets, Middle East and Africa Corporate Banking, European Finance Capital/Capital Markets and International Institutional.
