He lived up to his name in every way throughout his whole life. "Champ" exhibited a deep love not only for his family, but for the whole White Plains community and the W.P. schools and football programs. At White Plains High School he was President of the G.O. (General Organization), captain and fullback for his beloved varsity football team, which went undefeated in the early 50s under the legendary Couch Glenn Loucks. He graduated from White Plains High School in 1952, receiving more scholarships than any other graduate up to that time. He accepted a full Tyng Foundation Scholarship from Williams College, graduating in 1956 and then continuing on the scholarship to Cornell Medical School in N.Y.C. graduating in 1960. From 1963-1968, he was at Mt. Sinai Medical School on a National Institute of Health Fellowship. He and Mary raised their family in White Plains and he practiced cardiology there for 45 years. He was known not only for his knowledge, but for his kind and gentle way. During these years he served as Chief of Cardiology and President of the Medical Staff. In 2005, W.P. Hospital dedicated unit 4F "The Anthony J. Marano, MD Cardiac Care Unit". "Champ" was a physician for the White Plains School District for many years and was honored at a Board of Education meeting in July 2011. He served on the Boards of many organizations including Pace University, the YMCA, the University Club and the Home Savings Bank. He so enjoyed working with the Police and Fire Departments as physician for the White Plains Public Safety Dept. for many years. He was Chairman of the Tiger Fans Committee for a long time and always showed his pride for the players and coaches. He was inducted into the White Plains High School Hall of Fame in 1998. He was chairman for many years of the Con Edison’s Sports Awards which honored gifted high school students who were outstanding scholar athletes. He himself was one of the first winners in 1951, winning the award for football that year. His most satisfying accomplishment was being the founder and Medical director at the very first Mobile Life Support System in Westchester County in 1976. As important as all of the above was to him, his greatest pride was his four beautiful granddaughters, Kristin (Shawn Jimson) Lauren Marano, Emily and Kylie Russo. All of his girls gave him much happiness. (From heaven he will know when his first great granddaughter arrives very soon.) In lieu of flowers, the family has requested donations in his memory be sent to White Plains Hospital for the Dr. Anthony J. Marano Cardiac Care Unit. Visiting hours are Sunday 3-7pm.
